The South African Fifth Generation Mobile Technology Forum (“the 5G Forum”) is an independent advisory body constituted by stakeholders in the ICT Sector to undertake research and render advice to the Independent Communication Authority of South Africa (ICASA) on 5G, considering the integral role of 5G in the Fourth Industrial Revolution (4IR) and the positive socio-economic impacts that 5G stands to facilitate. The 5G Forum operates independently of formal management structures and is free of any organisational impairment.

Vertical industries will have enhanced technical capacities available to trigger the development of new products and services; 5G network infrastructures will be a key asset to support societal transformation, leading to the Fourth Industrial Revolution (4IR) impacting multiple sectors.
